HISTORY

Dating back to the early 1900s, this building has served as both the Colonial Theatre and a drug store. Several families have put their stamp on this general store over the years. Our family has continued to care for this establishment while meeting the evolving needs of our local community, beginning with Otto and Paula Spor and passed down to Stephen and Becky Spor. Our craft beer room adds a unique twist to our old-time general store feel and we take pride in sourcing local ingredients, doing things by hand, and offering the highest quality products. We encourage you to stop in, visit our beer room, check out our ice cream counter, and take in all the family charm this store has to offer.

Our warmest thanks for being part of our family history.
